CARDINAL PILOT HAS PENNANT HOPES

NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPS CONFIDENT OF REPEATING IN '31

Abundance of Good Material Available for Red Bird's Flag Campaign.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 10.—The St. Louis Cardinals, champions of the National League, have acquired the winning habit and expect to keep it.

They have won three pennants in five years, they have developed the most successful farm system possessed by any club in the big leagues, and today they are enjoying the satisfaction of having taken two out of three exhibition games from the world's champion Athletics.

From their grizzled pilot, Charles (Gabby) Street, down to the rawest rookie product of their famous "farm store" system, the Cardinals believe they have the stuff to win the National League race again.

"I knew we had a great club a year ago and it fulfilled by expectations," said Street. "I think we have a greater team this year."

A Good Combination. "We've got one of the greatest all-around young players in the game in Charley Gelbert at short, with Frank Frisch at second. The combination has no equal, in my opinion."

"We have wonderful pitching to expect from such men as Rheim, Haines, Grimes, Hallahan and Johnson of last year's regulars. I do not hesitate to say we expect great things from two new comers, "Dizzy" Dean, and Paul Derringer. Both have the stuff."

Too Many Players. Most of Street's worries are due to an embarrassment of riches. If the colorful, 26-year-old Dean and the equally promising Derringer fulfill expectations, Street may not have enough work to go around.

As he explained himself, he may be in predicament of having seven or eight "starters" although Johnson and Haines probably will be assigned to "special duty."

Jimmy Wilson, regarded as the most reliable all-around backstop in the league by Street, will do most of the catching, supported by young Gus Mancuso and the veteran Cuban, Mike Gonzales.

Street expects Jim Bottomley to stage a big comeback at first but there is a capable understudy available in Jimmy Collins. Frisch, Gelbert and Sparky Adams, at third, round out the infield.

The outfield probably will remain the same, with Chick Haley in left, Taylor Douthett in center, George Watkins and Ray Blades alternating in right.

SPORTS

THE First Presbyterian and Epworth M. E. Sunday school basketball teams, winner and runner-up respectively at the Marion Y-County league, this season, have been entered in the state Sunday school tourney to be played at Toledo March 21. It was reported yesterday. The two Marion teams will compete against the best Sunday school teams of the state for the state championship.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., a new outfit desirous of entering the ranks of the Marion Industrial baseball league apparently gets the honor of being the first team to turn in its application for a place in baseball here this summer. The gas company team has already filed its application for a post.

Greenwood Evangelical, seeking a berth in the Sunday school league is the second team to file its entry with the secretary of the commission. To date these are the only two teams that have officially entered although there will not be sufficient to fill the 32 posts of the four leagues. Right now it looks like the commission would have to turn down a number of applications for league berths.

The baseball commission is expected to convene for a meeting Friday night of this week to convene work of preparations for the opening of the season here. An unusually large amount of work faces the commission this year due to various complications which have arisen. The problem of eligibility among the various teams is expected to give the board plenty to consider before it is turned out to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Looking forward to a big year on the gridiron, Harding high school will inaugurate spring football practice just as soon as the weather opens sufficiently to allow practice to begin. How long the team will practice is not definitely known, according to Coach Dewey Bohyer today.

Bohyer is expected to occupy a lot of time this spring correcting two of the principal faults of last fall's team, namely, blocking and tackling. More games were lost last fall on account of these two things than on account of any other fault of the team. It is hoped they will be corrected before next fall. If they are Harding stands to win a lot of football games. If not, it will be too bad—again.

Y-County Cage Tournament Play to Open Tonight

STRICTLY AMATEUR

By The Associated Press
SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 10.—John J. O'Brien, who won fame in Notre Dame football as "one play" O'Brien, has refused to consider offers to coach the Navy's ends next year, rather than jeopardize his amateur status.

O'Brien is all done playing football for Notre Dame, but he is captain of the Irish truck team and a crack hurdler. He tied the American indoor record for the 65-yard high hurdle, and is expected to be a consistent point-getter outdoors.

O'Brien won his nickname of "one-play" when Coach Rockne sent him in against the Army in 1926, and left him there just long enough to grab a pass from Nelmie for the winning touchdown.

E. E. (Dip) Miller, Navy's new coach, who offered O'Brien the job as his assistant, indicated he would hold the place open until O'Brien was graduated in June.

Columbia Cinches Title in Eastern Cage League

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 10.—For the second year in succession and the fifth time since the circuit, as now constituted, was organized in 1911, Columbia has captured the eastern intercollegiate basketball league crown.

Columbia clinched the 1931 title last night by whipping Dartmouth 47-31, for its ninth straight win of the season without a defeat.

Marion Men Collect High Total in Shoot

O. H. Garthner and Homer Hirth of Marion have returned from Silver Grove, Ky., where they took part in a live bird shoot held there recently. Garthner and Hirth collected the highest total of any two men team participating in the event.

More than 100 shooters took part and 700 live birds were turned loose.

Galion Draws Bye in First Round of Tourney

GALION, March 10.—Galion High school, winner of the Northwest Ohio sectional tournament drew a bye yesterday in the Northwest district tourney to be played at Findlay this week-end.

Galion will meet the winner of the Lima-Central-Norwalk game in the second round at 2 p. m. Friday. If successful in this start the Orangemen will play again on Saturday afternoon.

Spanish Woodchopper Meets Coast Fighter

By The Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Paulino Uezudin, the Basque heavyweight fighter, who in his one previous appearance here lost to George Godfrey, meets Les Kennedy, California champion, in a ten-round bout tonight.

The Long Beach, Cal., longshoreman, a clever boxer, but lacking in stiff punching ability, was favored to outstep the big Spaniard. Jack Dempsey will referee.

ATTRACTIVE MATCH FESLER CHOSEN FOR TOPS MAT PROGRAM

Siki and Eustace in Main Go; "Father" Lumpkin in Semi-Final.

BY KARL R. McELROY

MARION fans who take their wrestling in big doses will have their night tonight when two main events meet on the mat at the Steam Shovel gym.

In the feature engagement on the attractive mat program will be Eustace Siki and Allan Eustace. These boys are slated to go to two falls out of three at a weight slightly under an eighth of a ton. They are expected to enter the ring at a point near 225 pounds.

Fans can take their own choice as to the favorite. In some camps the big Abyssinian is a decided favorite while others are pointing to Eustace's seniors unable to see the black terror for dust. No matter which way you pick the bout is certain to be fast and interesting. Siki will attempt to halt Eustace's seniors with his headlocks.

Local promoters have promised the winner an engagement with John Pesek. A contract has been held with Pesek for some time but his appearance in the ring here has been held up by the lack of an opponent able to offer a decent amount of opposition. Promoters feel that one of the two boys carded tonight should be able to turn the trick.

The semi-final bout of 30 minutes will find that famous Georgia Tech football star, "Father" Lumpkin, matched with "Tiger" McKee of Louisville, Ky. The "rambling" Lumpkin has been something of a sensation since making his pro debut several months ago. However, the clever McKee will offer a hard nut to crack.

Backing up these two headliners will be two fast preliminaries. Tom Temple of Marion meets Frank Higgins of Louisville and Peter Dando of New York tangles with Roy Rinehart of Mt. Glend. Promoters are looking forward to a well-filled house. The advance sale of tickets at Markert & Lewis has been unusually heavy.

The first bout will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Urges Law To Allow Longer Boxing Matches

By The Associated Press
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 10.—General John V. Clinin, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Association, and president of the National Boxing Association, was in Springfield today to urge revision of the state boxing law to permit 15 round boxing bouts.

Gen. Clinin contends Illinois should permit longer bouts especially for championship fights, in order to compete with New York, Michigan, New Jersey and other states allowing 15 rounds.

The Marlon Business College basketball team went on a fourth period scoring spree last night against the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. five and walloped the gassers 30 to 14. The score was 16-11 for the bookkeepers as the last frame opened but the gap was rapidly widened in the final period.

HORNBY'S WIFE HURT

By The Associated Press
SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 10.—Mrs. Rogers Hornsby, wife of the plot of the Chicago Cubs, was bruised and shaken last night in the collision of her motor car and a machine driven by B. V. White, a steamship officer. White was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated.

The collision occurred at 10:15 p. m. last night on Broadway street. White's car was driven into the rear of Hornsby's car, which was being driven by her.

Hornsby was taken to the hospital, but her injuries are not serious. White was held in the city jail.

Johnny Wooden of Purdue Only Repeater of 1930 Honorary Five.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 10.—Wesley Feiler, Ohio State's all-American end, has been named as a guard on the Associated Press all-Western conference basketball team, selected by a vote of Big Ten court coaches.

The other four selections are from as many different schools. With Johnny Wooden, Purdue, guard, as the only repeater from last season.

Joe Reiff, sophomore forward on Northwestern's first championship basketball team, was the most consistent vote-getter, being selected by every coach for a first team berth either at forward or center. His running mate at forward is Captain Harvey Schoening of Minnesota.

The center position went to Norman Daniels of Michigan, with Feiler and Wooden as the guards. The forwards and center were named by a clear cut margin, but the guard jobs were keenly contested. Feiler's selection followed his being placed on the all-conference football guard for the past three seasons.

Two Six Footers. The forwards, Reiff and Schoening, are the only six footers on the team. Reiff, who started at center, was moved to forward, where his shooting ability gave him the individual scoring championship with 123 points. He is a dead shot anywhere inside the foul line.

Schoening, a senior, who stands an even six feet, was the spark-plug of the best team Minnesota has had since 1919. A good shot who amassed 98 points, he also was a good ball handler, strong defender and a good leader.

Louis maintained Michigan's mark of seldom going without a first team player and was the Wolverine's high scorer, with 93 points. He was the keyman in Michigan's offense and his shooting was consistently effective.

Feiler Ends Career. Feiler, playing his last season, received six first team votes, but was not mentioned by the other coaches. Wooden's margin over Marshall of Northwestern, Allenhof of Michigan and Fish of Chicago, was slim. Feiler was as much forward as guard and led his team in scoring with 64 points. Wooden, the sensation of the 1930 season, has not quite as much help as a year ago, and failed to play as brilliantly. However, his dribbling was the best in the league, and his shooting, which gave him 86 points, won him favor again.

The second team selections were Charles Harper, Illinois, and Bert Ried, Northwestern, forwards; Bob McCarnes, Northwestern, center, and Ray Allenhof, Michigan, and Frank Marshall, Northwestern, guards.

BULLS FORCE STOCKS HIGHER

Broad Assortment of Industrial Shares Move in Uptrend.

New York, March 10.—Bulls continued to assert their superiority in the stock market today, with a broad assortment of industrial shares moving in an upward trend.

Shares of the United Corp. electric power group were bid up vigorously, in response to the formal announcement of the long reported power hookup between New York Edison and Niagara Hudson. A broad assortment of industrials, lead by American Can, was carried higher, joined by several of the merchandising issues and specialties.

Speculators on either side of the market have been hampered by lack of public following of the market, and have found the list an awkward object to move.

Among the more encouraging items in the days budget of news was the favorable reception accorded the large offerings of bonds, amounting to nearly $200,000,000.

Some observers have been inclined to view that market operators are anxious to accomplish considerable distribution of holdings before the first quarter earnings statements appear. It is now obvious that many companies will fail to break even in this period.

On the other hand, Mack truck management and the first quarter will undoubtedly result in a substantial deficit.

Money continued firm, reflecting treasury withdrawals to meet soldier bonus checks, and other influences. Call money renewed at 2 per cent, the first time a higher renewal rate since Jan. 2, when loans were renewed at 3 after midday.

Overseas funds were offered at 1 1/2.

FOREIGN GAINS BOOST PRICES

Grains Average Higher on Strength of Liverpool Quotations.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Influenced by bullish aspects of government figures on farm reserve supplies, grains averaged higher early today, especially corn. Unexpected firmness of Liverpool wheat quotations and smallness of receipts at European continental centers were an additional strengthening factor.

Opening unchanged to 1/4 up, corn afterward rose all around. Wheat started at 1/4 decline to 1/2 advance, and subsequently hardened.

Traders focused attention largely on official estimates showing that farm stocks of corn totaled 30,000,000 bushels less than had been looked for. Little notice was taken of the fact that the official estimate of farm supplies of wheat was 21,000,000 bushels larger than expected.

Some authorities said the reason wheat failed to respond to the official figures on farm stocks was that wheat prices were already so depressed that hardly anything could have a further bearish effect.

An advance in Argentine exchange rates, making wheat prices there appear higher, was a handicap to bears.

Scarcity of future delivery offerings was a feature of the corn market, and prices soon scored more than a full cent advance. Corn primary receipts amounted to only 526,000 bushels compared with 892,000 a week ago, and 937,000 at this time last year.

Chicago had but 97 cars against 178 a week back and 142 on the corresponding day of 1935. Oats sympathized with upturns of corn and wheat.

Big cold storage stocks of meats depressed the provision market, notwithstanding upturns in hog values.

LAST C. D. & M. ROBBER TO LEAVE OHIO PEN

William Shy Granted Parole To Be Effective April 15.

William Shy, who was implicated in the C. D. & M. robbery here in the fall of 1925, will be paroled from Ohio penitentiary on April 15, the state board of clemency announced yesterday following its March meeting, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus.

Shy is the last of the robber quartet now in prison. Harry Duncan, one of the four, died in the prison fire last April, and James Madden was released about two years ago due to a tubercular condition. Later he died. The fourth, Bernard Banks, was paroled some time ago from Mansfield reformatory.

Shy was given a 10-year sentence following his plea of guilty in con-mon pleas court in March, 1926, but the parole granted yesterday reduces the sentence by one-half. Duncan and Madden were given 20-year sentences and Banks was given an indeterminate sentence. The parole granted Shy yesterday was one of 65 given by the state board.

"Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland bank robber, who has been a prominent figure in the prison circle for years, must wait at least another two months before he can get out. Morton's case was up before the board yesterday but was among 55 carried over for further hearing. He was a hero in the prison fire last April.

The term is for four years and will expire on the second Monday of March, 1935.

Thomas is a Republican.

County Auditor Thomas Begins Second Term

County Auditor Earl E. Thomas yesterday began his new term of office to which he was reelected last November.

The term is for four years and will expire on the second Monday of March, 1935.

Thomas is a Republican.

DISCUSS HOSPITAL PLAN AT MARYSVILLE

Board of Five Counties Meet Today To Arrange Project

Further plans for the proposed district tuberculosis hospital were to be discussed today at Marysville at a meeting of commissioners of Marion, Hardin, Logan, Delaware and Union counties, the five counties interested in the project.

County Commissioners O. W. Kinnaman, O. C. McCurdy and W. M. King represented Marion county at the meeting.

Methods of financing the hospital were to be discussed. At a meeting in Bellefontaine several weeks ago it was tentatively decided to assess each county in proportion to its tax duplicate.

If the hospital is built, it is expected to save each county considerable money each year since each now pays for the care of its tubercular patients in hospitals located throughout the state.

Numerous other sections of the state support similar hospitals, four or five counties combining to finance them, thereby saving taxpayers hundreds of dollars each year.

The Arkhans will come down, "kill half the Hindus and make the rest slaves."

Mr. Stinson, secretary of state, will assign an assistant to study Russia for the state department. But it is announced that the state department has not changed its mind about Russia, which sounds like the late Dowager Empress of China leaving the order: "Execute this person, and give him a careful trial afterward."

A country as great and as intelligent as the United States is supposed to be ought to be informed concerning another country as great as Russia. And this country should be particularly interested in the question: "How is it that Russia has no employment problem and is obliged to draft a million married women to help do the work?"

VETERANS, according to General Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, will probably borrow $500,000,000 from the government, in accordance with their RIGHT to do so, between now and September.

A great part of the $500,000,000 will be devoted to paying off debts, including various installment purchases, and this ought to help prosperity.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS PRENDERGAST GUESTS

Maintenance Engineers of Eight Roads Attend Dinner Here.

Maintenance engineers representing eight railroads were guests of the Prendergast Co. at a dinner in the Hotel Harding last night. The group, numbering about 25 men, stopped here on its way to Chicago to attend the annual railroads exposition. They were accompanied to Chicago by J. F. Prendergast, president of the company, and James R. Smith, treasurer.

The Marion company manufactures various materials used in railroad construction.

Railroads represented last night were the New York Central, Big Four, C. & O., Nickel Plate, Wheeling & Lake Erie, Erie, T. & O. C. and K. & N. The Cleveland Rapid Transit Co. also was represented.

In addition to Prendergast and Smith, others who attended the dinner from Marion were J. H. Prendergast, vice president; T. R. Allen, assistant treasurer; and W. R. Hickman of the sales department.

O. W. U. RECEIVES REPORT ON METEOR

Astronomers Seek Additional Data on Astral Spectacle
Night of Feb. 26.

Trail, and exploding evenly, much like a large Fourth of July skyrocket. It proceeded slowly for about three seconds before exploding. It was of an intense white color, not reddish as many small ones appear.

Mr. Kenner is of the impression that the trail of the meteor remained luminous for many seconds and was extraordinarily broad. He described the trail as about the "width of one moon" and the "exploding head appeared to be about six moons in diameter."

That the meteor described appeared to be of unusual importance is judged by astronomers at the observatory from a further statement of the observer's that "we saw the brightest and largest meteor that we ever hope to see."

Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins observatory, has requested that others who may have seen the meteor in this vicinity report their findings to the Perkins observatory, Delaware, giving an accurate description of the time, place and path of the meteor so far as possible.

Death Ends 3 Years' Suffering of Detroit Boy

By The Associated Press
DETROIT, Mich., March 10.—Ted Garner died last night. Death came after sixteen years of life—13 years of careful childhood, happiness and the years in which Ted suffered because he had come into contact with the worst in humanity, but smiled all the while because the best side of mankind was shown to him.

In October, 1927, Ted was playing football on a sandlot. A man—nobody has been able to discover his identity—was annoyed. He tried to break up the game. Ted protested. The man kicked him. Ted fell with an injured spine, and never walked again.

As the months passed, the story of Ted's fight for health—the pain and the treatments and the blood transfusions—attracted wide attention. He asked for visitors and for mail. A big city responded again and again. Thousands of letters of cheer, and Christmas time a truck load of greeting cards and presents went to his bed.

Visitors, too—Primo Carnara was a messenger boy to carry him a longed-for radio. Other athletes, men whom Ted admired but could not imitate, hearing of Ted, were added to the list of friends.

Two weeks ago, Ted became worse. They took him back to the hospital where he had been so often. Last night his suffering ended.

charges as enumerated in the Lorch resolution. It was sponsored by Senator James R. Hopley, Republican of Bucyrus, who was made chairman. The committee did very little investigating and never made a report.

Gets No Results.

The other investigation was conducted by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy and former Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, during former Governor A. V. Donahoe's administration. This investigation continued over several months and was directed specifically at purchasers of equipment by the highway department. Nothing ever came from that investigation either.

Former Highway Director Robert N. Wald of Columbus, who headed the department under the administration of Governor Myers V. Cooper, commenting on the proposed investigation said: "I have no objection to an investigation if it answers the question, 'make one.' As director of highways and as examiner of the department, I heard much rumor but found no foundation for it."

NEW PLEA ENTERED BY INDIAN WOMAN

Nancy Bowen Admits Guilt to Manslaughter in "Witch" Killing.

By The Associated Press
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 10.—Nancy Bowen, 65-year-old Seneca Indian woman today pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter, in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand in her Buffalo home a year ago.

The plea was entered before County Judge F. Fred Thorn, who did not immediately fix a date for sentencing of the aged woman. The law provides a penalty of imprisonment not exceeding 20 years for this offense.

Nancy originally was indicted, together with Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman who was acquitted a week ago on a charge of murder. She testified for the state in the prosecution of Lila, admitting that she bent to death Mrs. Marchand, wife of an artist with whom Lila was on intimate terms. Nancy insisted, however, that she murdered Mrs. Marchand only because the younger Indian woman had said she was a "white witch" and that all Nancy's relatives would be unless Mrs. Marchand was removed.

LEGION POST MEETS

Gallion Veterans Hear Speakers at Session in Headquarters.

GALLION, March 10.—A meeting of Scarborough Post, American Legion, was held last night in the Legion clubrooms in the Wyandot building.

The business session was in charge of Paul Anderson, post commander, who reported that 28 new members had been added to the roll, making a total of 142. He also reported that a number of the veterans have received loans on their compensation certificates.

A. E. Kubie, vice commander of the fifth district of Legionnaires, and Ed Hertzog of Cleveland, a service man, were present at the meeting and gave talks and told of the Legion work in other cities.

Refreshments were served at the close with Samuel Brewer as chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Frank E. Firestone presented a number of her piano pupils in a recital last night at her home on North Liberty street. The mothers of the pupils were guests and enjoyed a program of instrumental music.

A feature of the program was an accordion solo rendered by Mrs. Mae Hock.

The pupils who took part in the program were Mary Caecopoles, Martha Karnes, Katherine Brewer, Carol Gardner, Dolores Enders, Marjell Billing, Eldon Davis, Paul Barton, Lucile Rhinehart, Ruth Mae Hornstein, June King, Margaret Boehm, Robert Horowitz, Harriet McCune, Thelma Kunkle, Grace Berger, Aldine Parks, Esther Parks, Thelma Edwards.

AGED MAN DIES

Phillip Myers, 72, Claimed at Home
Near Marysville.

MARYSVILLE, March 10.—Phillip Myers, 72, died at his home on Marion road one and a half miles from here yesterday afternoon. A long illness with cancer which for three weeks has held him bedfast, resulted in death.

He was born Oct. 10, 1858, to Michael and Mary Myers in Dover township. He has been a lifelong resident of Union county, having several times operated a restaurant here.

He was twice married, his first wife preceding him in death. He leaves Mrs. Elizabeth Myers, the widow, and six children, Mrs. Eva Wilson of Columbus, Calvin Myers of Galena, Charles Myers of Marysville, Thomas Myers of Delaware, Asa Myers and Mrs. Elizabeth Rice of Marysville. Sixteen grandchildren survive.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at the L. H. Miller funeral home in charge of Rev. Edward Morgan, pastor of Glad Tidings tabernacle. Burial will be made at Mt. Hermon cemetery in Dover township.

HUGE OVATION GIVEN GANDHI ON RETURN

Throngs Crowd Path of Nationalist Leader on Journey to Home.

By The Associated Press
AHMEDABAD, India, March 10.—After a year's absence Mahatma Gandhi was back in his own home today, a conquering hero.

Thousands turned out at every station as the train bearing the Nationalist leader sped from New Delhi, where Gandhi last week won from Viceroy Lord Irwin concessions which Indians largely consider a victory over the British government.

Glimpsing the day of ovations, the largest crowd of all met the Mahatma at the railroad station upon his arrival here, bent upon paying homage.

The monster crowd surged toward the tiny 63-year-old sage, and for a time it was feared he would be crushed to death. He was rescued by Nationalist volunteers who bore him aloft to his home.

Gandhi, who was observing his weekly day of silence, made no answer to the ovations, but tears rolled down his cheeks as thousands knelt and those nearest him scrawled forward to kiss the hem of his homespun garments.

Gandhi, attended by the ever faithful Miss Madeline Slade, daughter of an English admiral, rode here in a dilapidated third class coach. He carried a mattress and in utensils which he has used for preparation of his food.

Gandhi left Ahmedabad a year ago for his memorable march to the sea to manufacture salt in defiance of British law. He vowed at that time not to return until India had won independence from Great Britain.

RECEIVES BELATED REPORT OF DEATH

Mrs. J. B. Schneider Notified of Brother's Demise in Canada.

Mrs. J. B. Schneider, of 369 South Prospect street yesterday received word of the death of her brother, John J. Diebold, which occurred in St. Mary hospital in Dawson, Alaska, Dec. 5, last year. Funeral services were held at Dawson under the auspices of the Yukon Orphan of the United Church of Canada officiating. Interment was made in the Pioneer cemetery in Dawson.

Mr. Diebold was 62 years of age and went to Alaska in 1898 with his brother, Frank Diebold. He had never visited in Marion since leaving here more than 30 years ago. Mr. Diebold was never married and Mrs. Schneider is his only close surviving relative.

CONSIDER MEASURE TO AID STATE NEEDY

Propose $80,000 Improvements
on Public Buildings
To Provide Employment.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 10.—A bill intended to relieve unemployment and drouth sufferers in Ohio through the appropriation of $80,000 for improvement of state properties was before the house today.

The bill was received by the house last night from E. J. Midren, Democrat of Washington county, who presented it on behalf of Governor Whaley's special committee for drouth and unemployment relief.

The special committee, headed by Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, prepared the measure after a survey of the need for improvements on state properties in sections where suffering was reported the most acute from drouth and unemployment.

By a margin of one vote, the bill of Representative Clark Aumend Republican of Fulton county, which would require a notice of from 5 to 30 days before a marriage license is issued, was defeated. The vote followed lengthy debate on the floor during which three amendments were offered and one was approved.

dropping 13 degrees to last night's low. A year ago high temperature reading was 58, the low 32.

Eastern states suffered damage and loss of life. New England took account of stock today after a snowstorm had claimed the lives of five fishermen, endangered ten motorists marooned in White Mountain snowdrifts, and left washed up on Massachusetts shores the battered parts of a plane and a flier's helmet and goggles, according to Associated Press reports.

In Vermont, the storm was the worst experienced in many years. Abandoned automobiles dotted the main highways.

With thousands of men working in cities, towns and along highways of the middlewestern states, business was gradually returning to normal in the Chicago vicinity today after the week-end's 16.4 inches of snow. Two more deaths were reported in Chicago.

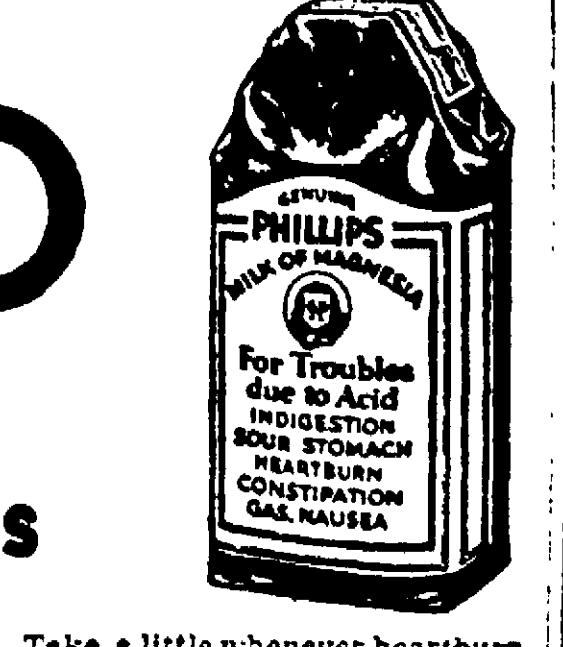

Sandusky apparently bore the brunt of the storm in Ohio. A whistling wind whipped Sandusky bay into froth and kept most persons indoors. Five inches of snow fell in Stark county last night, while Springfield had one of the heaviest snowfalls of the season.

Elks Even Up Euchre Series with Pythians

Members of Marion lodge, B. P. O. Elks, last night evened up their score with Marion lodge, No. 402, Knights of Pythias, in the second of a three-game series of euchre matches.

The Elks last night scored 1,097 points to 1,079 for the Pythians. Last week the Pythians won.

The third and deciding match will be staged on March 23 at the Elks rooms. Last night's games were played in the Pythian hall.

FARMER UPHELD

Court Rules Vaccination of School Children Not Compulsory.

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 10.—John Loar, Madison township farmer who refused to have his two daughters, Mary Louise, 14, and Doris Virginia, 13, vaccinated, was cleared of charges that he failed to educate his children properly by a ruling of Judge H. W. Jewell in county juvenile court.

Loar's daughters have been refused admittance to school since the beginning of the term last September, although they went to school every day and walked back home, a distance of two miles. Vaccination became compulsory in Madison township last year.

The case may be carried to the supreme court for a review, it was indicated.

INFANT RITES WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Marie Lane, infant, who died at her home at 402 West Center street, will be held at the residence Wednesday at 10 a. m. with Rev. W. Martel George of the Wesley M. E. church in charge. The body will be taken to Byhalia in the Gunder funeral car for burial there.

RAILROAD TAKES UP BUCYRUS SHOP FIGHT

New York Central Asks Court
To Dismiss Order Preventing Moving.

Special to The Star.
BUCYRUS, O., March 10.—The New York Central railroad today filed a motion in common pleas court asking dismissal of a temporary restraining order prohibiting the moving of the company's repair shops from Bucyrus.

A conference between railroad and city attorneys was called for this afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Clarence Ahl to set a date for the hearing.

Bucyrus obtained an injunction against the railroad when the latter announced plans to move its repair shops here to Collinwood. The city charged that such a move violated a deed made by the railroad more than 50 years ago.

The railroad said that the city failed to cite cause for action in its motion.

Hey there!
Germ Tosser!
You Can End that COUGH
Right Away

Sensational, New Medicated
Armor Coating for Breathing Passages
Cures Colds Quick,
Prevents Colds

Why be a barking, sniffling germ scatterer a minute longer? Why suffer yourself and make others suffer? It takes seconds only to catch a cough. Now, it takes seconds only to stop the exasperating tickle and irritation that upsets the nervous system and stomach, makes eyes water, nose run like a leaky fountain pen and generally makes you feel like the very devil.

Scientists found a new way in amazing EFF-OH. For the first time in such a simple treatment it is possible not only to attack the germs you have taken into the breathing passages, but to form a wonderful protective armor over the membranes which no cold germ can penetrate.

No nauseating medicine to upset stomach, no special apparatus. Just place pea-size portion of EFF-OH in nostrils, sniff up—and that's all.

You feel EFF-OH spread and diffuse over membranes, clearing the head like magic, soothing irritation, cooling fevered areas, reaching way down into bronchial passages as you breathe.

Thousands acclaim EFF-OH the most effective cure for colds and cough preventive ever devised. It looks like an ordinary ointment but you will marvel at the difference, the wonderful results from very first trial.

Stop the cough you have now, instantly. Armor plate nose, head and throat passages with EFF-OH daily during cold-catching season. Use it before theatre, before school, everywhere colds are contracted.

Your druggist will supply you today. Ask for one of the big generous family size tubes. Try one application for the cold you have. If it doesn't give you instant relief manufacturer will gladly refund your money. There is only one medicated armor plating for breathing passages. Insist on EFF-OH. All druggists.

POPULAR MARION QUARTET PLANS TO CELEBRATE TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Marion Melody Boys Become Well-Known Group After Noon-Hour Harmonizing.

For one and one for all. Through 10 years of persistent prohibition, jazz and friendly difficulties, the Marion Melody Boys have stayed together, and celebrate their tenth anniversary Wednesday.

March 23, 1930, the M. M. Quartet, now known in the city and over the radio as the quartet.

At the time the four were employed by the Osgood Co. and got in the lunch hour for a harmonizing. The first public appearance came at an Osgood "nightly night" performance.

Singing Everywhere. Then on the four, John Brobeck, second tenor, of Ben-street, Lester Craven, first tenor, of Boone avenue and Marion harrington, of Chicago avenue, sang in nearly every school and lodge and various public gatherings here and at affairs surrounding communities.

The quartet sings three classes of music, harmony, humorous and Eczema on Boy Lasted Over a Year. Healed by Cuticura.

"My boy had eczema very badly. It began with a breaking out of pimples and blisters on his face and hands. It itched and burned causing him to scratch, and the eczema was much worse on his hands. He lost some sleep on account of it. The trouble lasted over a year. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. After using them a few days he got relief. I purchased more and in about three months he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. W. Moore, Summerfield, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1930.

DANDRUFF Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, MEX.—Folks here have different ideas than those in Nevada. A movement is afoot to make divorce more difficult. Decrees have been mounting because the law is too lenient.

HAVANA.—Specifications are necessary when one says "Bomba" in Cuba. The word means for one thing, bomb, such a contraption as has worried a policeman or so recently. It also means fire engine, top hat, pump, musical instrument, electric light globe, or earthen jar.

BOSTON.—The hobby of Miss Norma Sherburne, a Junior at Boston university, is collecting old bottles. In two years she has gathered nearly 100 odd specimens, without paying a cent. Some of them come from dumps and some of them from beachcombing. Among the antiques is a 150-year old thing made for scotch.

PORT HENRY, N. Y.—A bald eagle has lost a valiant fight against a strange monster that invaded his domain near Diameter mountain. Farmers tell of a charge head on by the bird against an airplane.

ROME.—This is the feast day of Santa Francesca, pious Roman widow, who died in 1440 and is the patron saint of motorists. They drive their cars to the Church of Santa Maria Nova in the ancient forum and have them blessed and ask that they be preserved from accident.

The industrial council is composed of secretaries of manufacturers' groups all over the state.

O. W. U. Awarded Tie in Glee Club Contest

DELAWARE, O., March 10—A tie with Ohio State university for second place in the Ohio Intercollegiate Men's club contest has been awarded to Ohio Wesleyan university. Owing to an error of the official accountant in tabulating the three judges' ratings, Ohio Wesleyan was given third, a fraction of a point behind Ohio State.

In a letter to Prof. G. Raymond Hicks, head of the music department here, Prof. Russell Lantz, Bluffton college, president of the State Intercollegiate Glee Club association, states that a recheck of the figures revealed the error. Following the correction, State and Wesleyan both have 114.5 points. The contest was held in Memorial hall, Columbus, Feb. 20.

Federal Aerial Squad Ready Start on Search for Stills

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 10—Federal dry agents are about to begin an aeronautic search for stills. Prohibition Director Woodcock yesterday announced plans for establishing a permanent aviation bureau, making use of planes seized from rum runners.

One plane, now held in Texas, is being made ready, Woodcock said, and will be sent to all sections where it is suspected liquor is being made in the open.

Federal agents have prepared a detailed map of southern Maryland showing logical places for stills. Woodcock said this map would be used by the flying dry agents in their work there.

"One plane," Woodcock said, "could cover more territory there in an afternoon than 20 agents were able to cover in a week."

SOME definite headway may be expected on this day, according to the favoring position of Saturn in connection with Luna. This inclines to patience, perseverance and hard work, bringing reward for merit, diligence and dependability. All of these qualities should be brought to bear on affairs in hand, especially in relation to employment and dealings with those in places of power.

Those whose birthday it is may find that the results of the year will depend largely on their individual efforts, with hard work, persistency and determination winning against such opposition and conflict. This applies especially to employment, though benefits may also bring some satisfaction. A child born on this day should be patient, persevering, practical and industrious and should win a measure of success through its individual merits, eliciting the favor of elders.

TO BE MARRIED

Daughter of Radnor Residents Announces Engagement.

RADNOR, March 10 — Miss Luida Milligan of Columbus is spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Milligan here. She has announced her engagement to Walter Stuart of Columbus. Miss Milligan is night supervisor of Haccum hospital in Columbus. The wedding will be a summer event, but no definite date has been set.

The Mission circle of the Radnor Baptist church held its yearly all-day meeting Friday at the church.

Election of officers was held with the following results: president, Mrs. E. H. Jones; vice president, Mrs. Arthur Baxter; second, vice president, Mrs. D. W. Porter; field secretary, Mrs. James P. Thomas Jr.; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Penry; literary superintendent, Mrs. W. W. Fogle; assistant, Mrs. David T. Griffith; chorister, Mrs. Tim Sullivan; music committee, Mrs. Charles Rodman and Mrs. Tim Sullivan; flowers committee, Mrs. W. P. Penry and Mrs. Mary Davis; lookout committee, Mrs. David T. Griffith, Mrs. James Kyle, Mrs. Harry Coonfar and Mrs. Fred Bosh; White Cross committee, Mrs. Arthur Darst and Mrs. Walter Evans; prayer leader, Mrs. R. S. Eddy and Mrs. E. D. Griffith.

Yearly reports were given by last year officers.

Reports of the year's work of the Ladies' Aid society were given by Mrs. W. W. Fogle, secretary and Mrs. Arthur Baxter, treasurer. The Aid society also held election of officers with the following results: president, Mrs. Evan D. Griffith; vice president, Mrs. A. C. Rodman; secretary, Mrs. W. W. Fogle; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Baxter.

Guests of the day were Mrs. Frank Jones and Mrs. Russell Lumbert.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Radnor M. E. church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harvey Davis, with Mrs. Jennie Osborn as assistant hostess. Miss Cora Leed led the devotional service. Prayers were given by Mrs. Harvey Davis and by Miss Cora Leed. "The Epistles of Life" was read by Mrs. John Camm. A poem was read by Mrs. S. P. Bell. Reading "The Plymouth Rock of Life" by Mrs. Fred Jones. A letter from Miss Nannie Wolford of Columbus was read by Mrs. Fred Jones.

In the investigation of the magistrates courts in New York City testimony has been adduced that "the pickings" of two members of vice squads amounted to $90,000 a year. We very gravely fear that Mayor Walker was not acquainted with conditions in his city when he gave Tammany that certificate of political cleanliness.

The Rev. James Malcolm MacLeod is quoted as saying: "Better a nation drunk than a nation dishonest." It's our guess that the reverend gentleman, when he said that, was looking at the fellows who talk dry and drink wet.

We are glad to know that the scientists have finally demonstrated that sun spots are responsible for poor long-range radio reception. Candidly, we were beginning to suspect that some gentlemanly bootlegger out our way was aging his stuff by electricity.

Every one of the 87,000 trees which line the boulevards of Paris which has been killed or damaged by gasoline fumes from motor cars is to be replaced with a fully-grown tree by the city government. Paris has learned that which many American cities should realize, that the first appeal of a city is to the eye.

With consideration being given to the relative number of men and women drivers, a survey shows that women are more careful drivers than men and figure less, proportionally, in the 1,000,000 deaths and injuries caused annually by automobile accidents. Really, the world will soon have to revise its estimate of the woman driver, and woman has become pretty cherty over her accomplishments as it is.

Two men and a woman are under arrest out in Los Angeles charged with the sale of girls ranging in age from twelve to twenty. It might be well were Uncle Sam to pay less attention to black slavery in Liberia and more to white slavery in America.

Out in Santa Cruz, California, a society woman has been acquitted on a charge of murdering her husband when she found him at a party to which he had gone with another woman. Husbands have to be mighty circumspect in their attention to other women in this day and age when the law permits them to be shot in the back "in self-defense."

He Fought in Three Wars.

Very few Americans not at one time or another enrolled as a regular in one or the other of the two chief divisions of our country's military establishment had a war service record such as that of Brigadier General James E. Stuart, who died in his eighty-ninth year in Chicago Sunday. He served as a volunteer in the Civil war, with the Second Illinois Infantry in the Spanish-American war and organized and commanded the Eleventh Infantry, Illinois National Guard, until the signing of the armistice ending hostilities in the World war.

When the Civil war broke out, Stuart, a law student of twenty in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, enlisted in the Twenty-First volunteer Infantry of that state. At the battle of Stone River in 1862 he was decorated for exceptional bravery by General Rosecrans. As a captain in 1868 he led General Sherman's advance guard. He personally secured the surrender of Raleigh, North Carolina, and participated in the battles of Murfreesboro, Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Resaca, Kennesaw Mountain and Peach Tree Creek.

At the close of the Civil war, Stuart entered the government postal service. Six years later he was made chief postal inspector in Chicago, in which post he served, with leaves for military service, for forty-four years until his retirement in 1920. He entered the Spanish-American war as a major, and following the return of his regiment was chosen colonel and retired at the age of sixty-five with the rank of brigadier general, an honor in part due to his excellent work in the war as a member of its secret service.

And this war veteran, who fought under the "Stars and Stripes" in so many battles and rendered service to this government alike in time of war and peace, was born in Forfar, Scotland, in the parish made famous by Barrie's "The Little Minister" and was brought to this country at the age of ten by his parents. In his case "The Melting Pot" worked effectively.

The Course of Wisdom.

By killing the Wagner employment agency bill, President Hoover manifested a far higher interest in the maintenance of employment than he would have had he signed it. This conclusion is inevitable to one of unprejudiced mind reading the statement of the President explaining his course.

The bill proposed a nationwide system of free employment agencies to be established by the states and supported by both the states and the federal government on a fifty-fifty basis, the entire system to be under a director general in the department of labor.

Mr. Hoover's chief objection is that the bill, if enacted into law, would destroy the federal employment service of the department of labor, which is cooperating and coordinating with the services already established by some thirty states and is finding places of employment for men and women at the rate of 1,200,000 annually, and would not offer a substitute thereof which could be used at present or even for months and possibly years to come. The bill planned forty-eight separate agencies, each under state control, and each operating independently, to which the federal government would have paid fifty per cent. of the maintenance expense not upon economic need of any particular state, but upon mathematical ratio of population.

The bill made no provision for special divisions, such as obtain in the present federal employment service, devoted to the planting and harvesting movements of agriculture, nor a special division for veterans.

"In any event," the President says in his statement, "the bill required effective action by the legislatures and governors of the various states at a minimum time requiring so long a period for its establishment as to be of no purpose in this emergency. And therefore, ample time to consider the whole of the question involved. There is no financial loss to labor in allowing this bill to lapse."

"While the bill provides for $1,500,000 expenditure over the next fifteen or sixteen months, one-half of it would be absorbed in receiving one-half the expenditure of the states without any additional service on their part."

"On the other hand, the present federal service has available over the next fifteen or sixteen months nearly $1,000,000 for the conduct of its agencies, which are being rapidly expanded through the emergency appropriations. I am asking the secretary of labor to cooperate with the various interested organizations to draft a plan for presentation to the next session of congress which will avoid difficulties presented by this bill."

Since the proposed measure was not to meet the present unemployment situation—the necessity for action by the forty-eight states would preclude that—but to meet future emergencies, it unquestionably is well that the President has seen fit to kill it. At the best, it was a hurriedly prepared bit of proposed legislation, put through in the eleventh hour without that consideration which should be given a proposal planned to serve for years.

The plan which the President has promised will be offered to the next session of congress will meet these stated objections and there will be ample time to give it the consideration a measure so consequential deserves.

We believe that the country as a whole will approve the course of the President in the matter of the Wagner employment agency bill and hold it that of wisdom.

Italy increased her navy by 59,213 tons during the year, 1930. That's equivalent to the tonnage of six 10,000-ton treaty cruisers. It's amazing how materially some of the European powers which hold themselves poor and pinched for funds can keep right on adding to their naval establishments.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment holds that the annual spirit, wine and liquor bill of the country is $2,848,000,000, but that doesn't necessarily mean that there is more drinking in the country than before the Volstead era. Look at the way the prices have been boosted in the last eleven years!

It has been asserted that 1,250,000 Canadians have settled in the United States within the last ten years. That's not so serious. If we must have immigrants, where could we get a better class than Canadians, provided that they are native-born and not the temporary variety—Canadians only for the purpose of entering our boundaries?

A stepple-jack fell 120 feet from the top of a smokestack out at Mishawaka, Indiana, landed on a coal pile and not only escaped death, but didn't even break a bone. It's a queer old life, this we lead. One of these days he may stumble over a match and break his neck.

Evidences of a prehistoric civilization of which no trace has previously been found have been uncovered at Mandi in Egypt. It's an open question if it might not be better for us to learn more of the life of today and be content with knowing less about the life of those who passed from the stage thousands of years ago.

Fifteen "Jaks" victims down in Mobile, Alabama, have such a drug concern there which distributed the Jamaica ginger tree drank for an aggregate of $375,000, alleging that it caused them to become paralyzed. Drug concerns should cut out drugs entirely and stick to their regular lines.

Detroit proposes to ask the state legislature to permit it to issue emergency bonds in the sum of $10,000,000 to meet, in part, the city's current year deficit which has reached $21,000,000, double that of any former deficit in the city's history. Manifestly Detroit is a speedy city in more respects than one.

Congressman Cochran, of Missouri, has produced figures to show that prohibition has cost the United States $4,530,308,744 in revenues alone. Figures like that are not impressive. They are the kind which used to be offered for the retention of the open saloon. If the Missouri congressman wants to make the country sit up and take notice, he should dig up figures to show the indirect cost of prohibition for the last ten years.

"WELL, THANK HEAVEN, YOU ARE WAKING UP AT LAST!"

Editorial Opinion.

CAN HARDLY BE CALLED UNIVERSAL.

The last thirty-four years have seen a growing tendency to distribute the burden of war more evenly over all the people. In the Civil war and the Spanish war the volunteer system prevailed, whereas in the last war the draft of all male citizens of military age was put into effect almost at once. A return to the old system in the days of 1917 would have been inconceivable. Suppose that a Grover C. Bergdoll could have escaped military service by paying a certain sum of money.

In spite of this improvement over previous wars, the last war caused much unfairness because opportunity for private profit was so great. If Americans in 1917 would not consider the old volunteer system for man power, it is equally true that in any future conflict they will not tolerate the old inequitable system for material things. If the government could draft men, it should also draft property.

In response to this feeling congress adopted a resolution calling for a commission to report on the proposed amendment to the constitution for a "universal draft," covering the taking of private property in time of war.

This commission has now begun its sessions. Its functions are limited to gathering evidence and making recommendations. Before congress, in what can only be set down as a typical congressional moment, forbade the commission to consider the conscription of labor. Why the laboring man is any better than the fighting man must remain somewhat of a mystery to those Americans who contemplate this singular bit of class legislation; but that the laboring man is better organized politically than the millions of young men who would be the first citizen soldiers is not to be denied.

The commission must first of all decide what material things the government would need in a future war and then find out why in all past wars certain individuals have made extraordinary financial profits. It must finally develop a basic policy for the equitable distribution of the war load. As the members of the commission are intelligent men, they will not allow themselves to be hampered by the congressional view that the man who works for his living is better than the man who dies for his country. Moreover, there exist at the present time in the war department thorough and well-developed answers to the major questions. Under able civilian leadership, a group of high-grade army officers have analyzed the past and plotted the future.

These voluminous army studies indicate that profiteering was primarily due to our utter unpreparedness not only in the accumulation of supplies, but also in the mere knowledge of what supplies would be needed. When war came supplies were inevitably ordered in excess of requirements, government purchasing agencies were bidding against each other, and in order to secure speedy delivery, the "cost plus" contract system was used. The possession of a plan, with the authority to be guided by it, would have averted many of these evils. Human greed, of course, played a part, but greed could easily have been curbed if those in authority had had a little foresight. —New York Herald Tribune.

EXILE FOR KILLING PIGS IN RUSSIA.

The soviet union has begun a campaign to save its farm livestock, which evidently is not increasing at the rate corresponding to the schedules laid down in the five-year plan for intensive production. Hereafter a food animal capable of bearing offspring may not be slaughtered. For a peasant who violates the edict the penalty is a fine ten times the value of the pig or, for a kulak, or wealthy farmer, the penalty may include, besides the fine, confiscation of his cattle and imprisonment or exile for two years.

In Russia the kulak is always the goat. If his sow fails to catch the spirit of the five-year plan by refusing to litter, nothing is done about it. But if her owner interferes with operation of the intensive policy he may be executed; if he executes the sow the punishment, while less severe, is sufficiently condescending. In one respect the law seems shortsighted. It is destined to make the kulak a vegetarian. Now vegetarians are supposed to be a sturdy people. Thus if the kulak is put on a diet to make him more healthy, the soviet is merely making the foe more formidable. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

Medicine and Progress.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

I do not know how many of my readers have traveled through the Holland tunnel. This tunnel is a masterpiece of engineering skill. It connects the state of New Jersey with that of New York, passing under the majestic Hudson river.

Not only was the building of this tunnel an engineering achievement, but during its construction we learned a lot about the great strides made in medicine. Loss of life in the building of this gigantic structure was surprisingly small. By an application of the studies made regarding compressed air and its action on the human body, the occurrence of caisson disease was very low.

"Caisson disease" is known also as "compressed air disease" and "diver's paralysis." It used to be a great handicap to all men engaged in underground or underwater construction. This work must be done under compressed air in a caisson, which as you know is a water-tight, air-tight box or tank.

When the body is too quickly subjected to a change in atmospheric pressure, the blood circulation and the blood itself are considerably disturbed. In consequence, distressing symptoms develop.

After leaving the caisson, the men complain of headache, dizziness and faintness. In more severe cases they have pains in the legs and abdomen. These symptoms are often associated with nausea.

The workmen sometimes speak of this condition as "the bends." The same effects have caused the doctors to call it diver's paralysis. The legs become paralyzed and though the men can still walk, they are unable to stand. In some cases the condition disappears, many permanent ill effects may continue.

With the building of the Holland tunnel and other similar structures, preventive measures have been taken to safeguard the workers against this condition. By what is called "gradual decompression," the evil effects of sudden atmospheric changes are avoided. The men go from one chamber to another, gradually adjusting themselves to the increased pressure. When work must be carried on under very high pressure, the men are permitted to work in very short shifts, perhaps not more than two hours.

We live in a wonderful age, the age of construction. Great buildings, bridges, tunnels and dams have been built by the hundreds. More will be constructed in the future. It is fortunate that medical research goes hand in hand with engineering deeds.

If you believe the world is growing worse, make a study of the building industry. You will be forced to reform your views. As I see it, the world is getting better every day. —Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Ohio Heresy Hunt Recalled.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The death, several years ago, of Rev. Henry Preserved Smith, at Poughkeepsie, New York, recalls a theological controversy as fierce as that which raged about the late William J. Bryan and the opponents of the anti-evolution law in Tennessee, which concerned a Dayton, Ohio, man so many years ago that many have forgotten the matter, and the man. So little has been heard of him in recent years that most people no doubt forgot his very existence.

The Rev. Mr. Smith was a native of Troy, Ohio, but lived in his earlier years at Dayton, where his father was a factor in its industrial and business life for many years. His name suggests a Puritan ancestry, but the Smiths were Presbyterians, and Henry Preserved entered the ministry of that church. He was holding a professorship in Lake seminary, Cincinnati, when attention was called to the fact that he had expressed doubt that the Bible was the directly and wholly inspired word of God; that he admitted that there were errors in the book that told of the connection of man with God.

The Statistical Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the most interesting features of the development of modern mathematics is the application of statistical measurement to a vast number of practical problems. Statistical theories are three in number, and are described as follows by Professor Weaver, of Wisconsin. First, there is the theory of sampling which studies the extent and reliability of the conclusions about the original source which one can draw from the sample. Then there is the correlation theory, which studies the nature and degrees of interrelationship between measurements of two or more attributes. And finally there is dispersion theory, really a part of the theory of sampling; and this dispersion theory treats of the inferences one can draw from sets of samples concerning the homogeneity of the sources from which these samples are drawn.

Laplace, the great master of the theory of probability, which is the basis of statistical science, takes very broad ground. In his classic treatise on probability he observes: "Strictly speaking, one may even say that nearly all our knowledge is probabilistic; and in the small number of things which we are able to know with certainty, even in the mathematical sciences themselves, induction and analogy, the principal means for discovering truth, are based on probabilities, so that the entire system of human knowledge is connected with this theory."

It is one of the most singular things about time that it proceeds ever relentlessly onward. The arrow of time points in a certain direction. The command is: Forward! Time is not "O Time in your flight," is a futile prayer. Statistical phenomena, according to Sir Arthur S. Eddington, possess this unidirectional character. Let us take a pack of a very large number of cards, say 4,000,000,000, of four suits, the suits being numbered respectively from one to a billion, and having the colors red, blue, green and violet. Consider the original arrangement of the cards, let us shuffle the pack, the shuffling pack. Shuffling continues to disarrange the pack from the original arrangement, and it is exceedingly unlikely that any subsequent shuffling will reconstitute the original arrangement. Now we know that the shuffling of a statistical layout on set of elements goes only forward; never turns to the original arrangement. Probably, then, civilization is like this. Primitive civilization is elementary, simple; the elements have not been shuffled; on being shuffled, quickly brings us back to the beginning again. But in a complex state of society like our own of the twentieth century, there are an uncountable number of elements and these have been shuffled again and again. If we could have two images of the world, one complex, say, and another more complex, then we might be sure that the second picture was taken later. The universe is older because it has been shuffled more!—Copyright, 1931, International Features Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

The late Lord Balfour, who, as is well known, was a confirmed bachelor, was once sitting in the drawing-room of a friend who was happily married. Before them on the hearth-rug were a cat and dog lying together. Said the friend: "Why do people speak of a cat-and-dog life? See how happy these are."

Lord Balfour paused for a moment, smiled, and then said: "Lie them together."

"Madam, this transfer has expired."

"Well, you can't expect much else with the cars so poorly ventilated."

A Jew and an Englishman were having an argument about the ways of their respective races.

"You people," said the Jew, "have been taking things from us all your lives. The Ten commandments, for instance."

"Well, yes," said the other, "we took them from you all right, but you can't say we've kept them."

"So you don't want to marry me, Doris?"

"That's different! You said something about being yours for ever."

Miss Pimpkins, at picnic—"Oh, gracious, there's an ant in my coffee! Will it hurt it?"

Mr. Simpkins—"Hurt it? Heavens, woman, it'll kill it!"

"What is your idea of classical music?" asked the friend of former days.

"Classical music," answered Mr. Cumrox, "is what you pay five dollars to hear and what you'd give $50 to get away from."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, March 10.—The most fleeting of all popularity in the amusement world is that of the radio artist. No one knows just how long time after time skilled performers have reached a high pinnacle of success and, like a candle light in a sudden breeze, vanished.

The radio's audience, more than any other, demands change. They hear, but rarely see the broadcasters, and thus the intangible quality of off-the-stage personalities is denied. The artists are not able to feel the spark of spontaneity that comes with face-to-face contact.

So far few radio stars have maintained a fortune for more than a year. Often it is only six months, and they begin slowly to slip. In some instances personal appearances prolong interest, but generally speaking stage screen efforts have been disappointing.

They lack the quality called a "box office draw." Talking machine artists who appear in person are far more valuable, boosting receipts. Experts believe that when the business is better stabilized the radio star's professional life will be more durable.

During their brief ascendancy, the enthusiasm is cyclonic. Radio stars receive more voluminous mail than their brothers and sisters of the movies and legit. But the glamour is not so satisfying. Talking into a microphone in a lonely room cramps the imagination.

They have no way of knowing how many listen in. There is no applause and they must wait several days before receiving praise. Their names do not blaze in electric lights and not a handful of curiously seekers watch to them at studio doors.

Vanity is not appeased by recognition. Public stage stars are almost always successful years. The cinema star will hold audiences for five years and longer. But the radio star can not hope for more than two years as things are today.

Helen Morgan is the most highly-sensitized actress on the stage. She is a bundle of nerves. Her graceful hands with such remarkable tapering fingers are constantly fluttering. Like dry leaves in a sudden breeze, in the spotlight that is why she indulges those odd gyrations such as twisting a finger on the piano lid while singing. Often she locks herself in a dressing room until the call boy's knock to get hold of herself. Yet strangely enough her perpetual fright is rarely noticeable to audiences.

Phil Baker's apparent self-assurance and masterful poise have made him one of the foremost comedians of his time. Yet Baker's insecurity is more often than not feigned. At almost every performance he suffers the torment of stage fright. Indeed, it seems a good trouper does.

Popular music has suddenly gone Cuban. The two big song successes of the season are "The Peanut Vendor" and "Lady, Play Your Mandolin," both by Cuban composers. And slow rhythm so dancers can walk leisurely is all the go in the smart places.

One of clowns believes that when they get through with all the United States bank failures, investigations they will finally arrest a depositor.

A gentleman has just tried to interest me in a volume to be called: "Who's Who in Newspaperdom." For $20 my name along with high lights of my mandolin career and other astonishing achievements will be included. "But if I don't pay the twenty dollars?" I asked. His reply, inspiring a startled blink, was: "Things will go on as usual."

Notation on the envelope of a letter mailed ten days after written by a lady in Savannah, Georgia: "This letter got pocket-bound—Hoi Husband."

Warning to desk peckers! On the desk of an office this afternoon was a curious bird infixed with pearls. I lifted the lid. It was a cigar container and a hidden music dings began to tinkle just as the owner came breezing in.—Copyright, 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Bruges, Past and Present.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Bruges, once a rival of Venice—the glorious Venice of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries—is today a sleepy town redolent with the ineffable aroma of history.

But for the crumbling ruins, Bruges is the same as she ever was, though no longer the bustling center, the great trade-mart of her section of the world.

Almost all that remains of her Middle-Age celebrity is her twelfth century Cathedral of Notre Dame, her shining reputation for the production of face and the great octagonal tower of the belfry whence comes the charms which Henry Wadsworth Longfellow once wrote about.

Bruges is a city of canals. It is along these venerable waterways that one comes upon the secret charms of this medieval city. Motley called them "the fair and pleasant streets." There are little elbow-shaped bridges, tiny squares, statues of half-forgotten heroes of another day and the fine old mansions.

Bruges is a city of churches. There is St. Jacques, the cathedral and the aforementioned belfry. And there is the carillon in the belfry which has charmed hundreds of poets and musicians. From this each quarter of an hour day and night peals the exquisite music which is answered by the bells of the other old churches.

In Bruges, one can not help being transported back to the Middle Ages by these mellow sounds which rang on the ears of the lusty burghers and their wives long centuries before the dissonance of modern life, honking motor horns and shrieking radios, were even thought of.

Bruges was captured by the Germany army in 1915 and only recaptured by the Allies a few days before the end of the World war.

It Was Too Much.

Just as four oldtimers were congratulating themselves that the worst of Rudy Vallee was over, he started crooning one of Eddie Gues's poems and all four lay down and died.—Milwaukee Journal.

Holdup and Three Burglaries Reported by Two Towns

THREE STORES ARE ENTERED

Manager at Gallion Robbed of $30; Chesterville Places Hard Hit.

Three burglaries at Chesterville and Gallion were reported today. A Kroger store at Chesterville was robbed of $30 by a bandit this morning while the store was closed. The bandit was seen over the week-end. Morning sheriff learned today.

BURGLARS ACTIVE

Three Chesterville Stores Looted Over Week-End.

GALLION, March 10—Burglars were active at Chesterville last week-end according to reports received here today by Sheriff E. Miller.

Business places were entered with merchandise and a large amount of cash taken. Four persons have been questioned in connection with the burglaries.

At Chesterville, a general store, a drug store and a hardware store were entered. Five cartons of cigarettes and a large amount of cash were obtained at the hardware store. The postoffice in Chesterville was ransacked but no money was taken.

At Gallion, three tires and $4 were taken from the hardware store. The combinations of the safe were not an inner door were opened. One of the revolvers was just recovered following another burglary in January.

Less than $1 in cash was taken from Arnold.

At each of the stores entered by breaking windows and doors. Finger prints were taken.

GET $30 AT STORE

Bandit Escapes in Waiting Car After Holdup.

GALLION, March 10—While en route with a running motor in an alley, a bandit this morning held up W. C. Ness, manager of the South Market street store and escaped with $30.

The bandit was wearing a mask over his face, the masked man done in the alley after the opening.

He forced the cash register, leaving the store to enter the waiting car, driving an account of the bandit picked up a box.

PLAN CAMPAIGN IN FARM AREAS

Republican Council Formed To Win Support for Administration.

WASHINGTON, March 10—A bid for farm support of the administration advanced today under the leadership of the executive director of the American national committee.

In an announcement of its formation, Robert H. Lucas said a primary purpose of a new advisory council for agriculture would be to disseminate in the corn and wheat belts "accurate information" of attempts the administration has made to aid the farmer.

To membership of this council were appointed Senators Dickinson of Iowa and Capper of Kansas, and Representative Simmons of Nebraska, and Farnell of Indiana.

Dickinson, who will head the group, believes its work will do much to offset claims that the republican party's farm relief efforts have failed. He said in a statement:

"It is the belief of those interested in this government that it will be a source of real strength in furthering the interest of the republican party in the rural localities, especially in the middle west and northwest."

The educational work will begin immediately. To carry out the program, Senator Dickinson, who was a farm leader in the house until his election to the senate last November, expects to obtain "proper political contacts in various localities outside the regular political channels and interest the parties" in the spread of "proper information" concerning the legislative policies of the administration.

A satisfactory explanation of the attack was lacking, but it was reported that the investigators were members of a secret society which recently had been charged with terrorist activities.

Guanaud recently was released from jail, where he had been confined on charges of conspiring against the government of President Garardo Machado.

ALLEGED PRISON TORTURE PROBED

Triple Investigation Begun After Death of Convict at Joliet.

By International News Service. JOLETT, Ill., March 10—An inquest today was to open a triple investigation into the death of Joseph Conkley soon after he had been handcuffed to the door of his cell in the state penitentiary here during solitary confinement.

Inquiry which followed Conkley's death brought the admission from prison officials that it was a common practice in the penitentiary to handcuff prisoners to cell doors for long periods and in such a position that it was impossible for them to sit down.

Conkley had been chained with his hands above his head for eight hours Saturday.

The prisoner had recently suffered a severe attack of influenza, it was learned. He had been dead three hours when found huddled in two blankets on a rude bench. A blood clot in the heart was given as the cause of death following the autopsy.

GETS PROMOTION

BUCCYRUS, March 10—Arthur R. Pfeiffer, son of George W. Pfeiffer of Sulphur Springs, who resides in Detroit, has been advanced to one of the vice presidents of the Union Guardian Trust Co. and has been elected a director of the company. It was learned here today by his father. The new director was graduated from Buccyrus high school with the class of 1924.

MOB ATTACKS CUBAN PAPER

Building Fired; Editor and Two Aids Wounded by Bullets.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 10—A mob attacked the offices of the weekly humorous publication Karikato last night, set fire to the building, fired more than 100 shots and wounded the editor and two staff cartoonists of the paper.

Julio Guanaud, editor, was struck by a bullet near the right ear. Hurlado Mendoza and Ferre Elias, cartoonists, were severely beaten by the rioters.

Karikato had resumed publication last night after having been suspended for two months by presidential decree. A large number of copies had been sold on the streets when the mob formed and attacked the offices. The interior of the offices suffered great damage.

A satisfactory explanation of the attack was lacking, but it was reported that the investigators were members of a secret society which recently had been charged with terrorist activities.

Guanaud recently was released from jail, where he had been confined on charges of conspiring against the government of President Garardo Machado.

GALLION WOMAN CHANGES MIND

By International News Service. BUCYRUS, O., March 10—

"This is no good." These words were written on the back of the will of Catherine Shaffer of Gallion, filed for probate here today. Later the testator wrote under the words "This is no good" a few more. They read: "I have changed my mind and also all things pertaining to this will."

TWO ARE HELD TO GRAND JURY

Brothers Charged with Driving While Intoxicated, Attempting to Rob Man.

KENTON, March 10—Sam Freeman, 21, and Homer Freeman, 25, brothers of Kenton were bound over to the Hardin county grand jury under $1,000 each by Mayor George Lingard on charges of driving a car while intoxicated and attempting to hold up Vern Shultz, Kenton produce dealer, and his family, south of the city.

Shultz was enroute home from Belle Center where the family had visited relatives, and when a short distance out of the city was flagged down by the young men. He said they attempted to stage a robbery but he frustrated their attempts and came on into Kenton, where he notified officials.

Later two young men and two girls were placed in custody in South Kenton and were identified by Shultz as the two who had tried to hold him up.

WED 50 YEARS AGO

Edison Couple Honored at Home of Daughter.

EDISON, March 10—Fifty years ago at Caledonia a wedding service was read uniting Miss Arminda Plotner and Ross Corwin. Rev. Scott read the ceremony.

At the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Shoup of Edison, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Sunday observed their golden wedding anniversary. Relatives and friends were guests at a dinner.

Institute To Discuss Used Car Problem

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., March 10—

The men who find profit in junked automobiles gathered here today for a three-day convention of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, which figures itself as a billion dollar business.

The problem of getting 3,000,000 used cars off the highways annually was to be tackled along with utilization of more steel scrap in place for pig iron, conservation of iron ore reserves and relationships with the steel industry, the automotive field and the railroads.

GALLION, March 10—Kenneth Petri, son of Mrs. Lillian Petri and a senior at the John Marshall school of law in Cleveland, has been awarded the highest average of any student in the class for the year's work.

Asks Legal Ruling on State Repeal Petition

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., March 10—

State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, Republican, of Cleveland, today filed with Attorney General Gilbert Bettina a petition for approval, as to its legal form, the constitutional amendment sponsored by Ackerman for repeal of the state prohibition laws. As soon as it is approved it will be circulated for signatures.

Ackerman's proposal would permit the voters at the election next November to express their desire as to repeal of the state constitution's prohibition amendment, and the acts for its enforcement.

English Slayer Hanged Without Naming Victim

By The Associated Press. BEDFORD, Eng., March 10—

Alfred Rouse, man of many loves who last November tried to "die by proxy" in an effort to escape the responsibilities of his amorous adventures, today was hanged for the murder of an unidentified man.

He was the first person in 145 years to be executed for the murder of an unidentified victim. The body of the man he killed was kept unburied throughout his trial and subsequent incarceration in the hope that Rouse would tell who he was.

New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints and Muscles

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain denuding drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA the new medicine that acts directly on the liver, stomach and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness.

Henney & Cooper has so much confidence in RU-MA that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not end rheumatism.—Adv.

CHOIR ON PROGRAM

Junior Group Appears at Gallon P.T.A. Meeting.

GALLON, March 10—The March meeting of the West Side and Junior High Parent-Teachers' association was held Monday night at the Junior High auditorium with a very good number in attendance. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Roy Crawford.

The program, which was of unusual interest, was opened by selections of the Junior choir of Peace Lutheran church under the direction of Theodore Schaefer. Piano solos by Joanne Hoekstra and Niles Deems; talk, Professor E. R. Beets; readings, Mary Alice Burden; group of solos, Miss Doris Sickmiller; "High Lights of the Local Child Conservation League," Mrs. Kate Casey. A spelling bee was the closing feature of the program.

Members of the Fortnightly club assembled Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank S. Wierman for their regular meeting. The program included two papers by Mrs. W. V. Goshorn and Mrs. Earl B. Padgett. During the business session Mrs. A. W. Lewis, Mrs. J. V. Dye, Mrs. Flora Pigman, Mrs. H. H. Freese and Mrs. W. J. Geer were named as the program committee for next year. Sacred Selections in Harmony With Season
Mark Lecture-Recital Club Program Here

SACRED numbers and selections in beautiful harmony with the season were presented by members of the Marion Lecture-Recital club and their guest singer, Hollare E. Arment, tenor, of Findlay, in the Lenten program last evening at Emanuel's Lutheran church. Arias from Handel's masterful "Messiah" to equally beautiful solos of sacred themes were sung by Mr. Arment who possesses a voice of magnificent range and tone, while Mrs. Eugene H. Moore, of this city, the only other vocal soloist on the program sang a group of three numbers. Mrs. Moore's contralto voice was heard to good advantage in the church. Aside from the vocal solos, members of the Ladies' chorus, under the direction of Mrs. William Unger of Bucyrus, sang one number with organ, piano and violin accompaniments. The selection, Rubenstein's "Seraphic Song" was beautifully sung and with the accompaniments played by Miss Melvina Summers at the piano, Mrs. William Ackerman, J. at the organ and Miss Margaret Hoover the violin, was one of the loveliest of the program.

Instrumental numbers included two organ numbers by Mrs. William Ackerman, Jr., a group of organ numbers by Mrs. Griselda Dornbaugh and a piano and organ number by Mrs. Delbert Thrush and Miss Alfreda Horn. Mrs. Dornbaugh also played the organ accompaniments for Mrs. Moore and Mr. Arment. In keeping with the impressiveness of the program the audience did not applaud.

Mr. Arment's first group included two recitative numbers.

Physicians the world over now employ a new method of treating obesity. It is based on modern science, and aims to correct the cause. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs.

The reason is this: Medical research has found a great cause of obesity in a weakened thyroid gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. When that secretion is scant, too much food turns to fat.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Avoid the Fraud

During all this time, many false treatments have been offered for obesity. Some were harmful, some absurd. One

Fat Is Abnormal

Excess fat is a blight to beauty, health and vitality. To those who know it is an abnormal condition. It overburdens, shortens lives, it quells virility and vim. Half life's joys are missed to the fat man.

Be moderate in all things, but starve, don't over-exercise. Such methods often bring injury. Combat cause in an easy way, as multitudes doing. Simply take a Marmola tablet four times daily, until weight comes down to normal.

Watch the New Vim

As weight comes down, watch the vitality, new vim. Not only because you lose the burden of fat, but for other reasons. Other ductless glands depend on the thyroid for activity. So a simple help may bring many amazing results.

Go try Marmola. A nine-day treatment costs $1 at drug stores. Read the book in the box. When Marmola does for you what it has done for so many, tell others about it. Go start today.

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAYE

(Copyright, 1931, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.)

SYNOPSIS
Waye is a thorn in the flesh to Dr. Charters. Threatening exposure of the doctor's criminal past, the stranger has secured admittance to his nursing home and obtained an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schlitz. Charters wonders if Waye knows that he robbed Schlitz and Chink Dorson of their shares of the St. Clair diamond haul. To impress the other patients Waye pretends harmless insanity, his startled "surgery" being in character when he meets Marjorie Landreth, steadily growing worse under treatment at the home. Her aunt, Mrs. Landreth, was formerly an associate of Charters' evil days in America. Dr. Charters rejects Dr. MacAdoo's advice to "bump" Waye off, realizing Waye's foresight in letting his personal physician know of his whereabouts. He decides, however, to use Waye's pretended delusions as a means of getting him certified as insane and removed to an asylum.

CHAPTER 8 Double-Crossing

HURRYING along the dark corridor that led from the hall to Dr. MacAdoo's consulting-room, John Waye, encountering the latter gentleman, either accidentally or intentionally, stumbled against him. "I beg your pardon, my dear doctor," he said in Portuguese. "La voz os pes onde quer o coracao." (The feet go where the heart wants them to), growled Dr. MacAdoo in reply. "Now I wonder whether Portuguese is really our native tongue—because we were born and bred and educated in Rio de Janeiro, and practiced in Bahia and Santos until we came a very nasty cropper, eh?" "Come in here a minute," growled Dr. MacAdoo, leading the way into his consulting-room. "You're a very clever fellow, aren't you?" he said, turning the key in the lock of the door.

"And you know Santos, do you?" smiled Dr. MacAdoo, as he tapped a cigarette. "I don't know Santos really well. But I know one or two of its exports—coffee, Brazil nuts, and Manoe! Machado. Also something of its history and of Manoe! too." Dr. Emmanuel MacAdoo's mouth fell open, and himself fell silent. "Yes, I know why Manoe! Machado became an export of Brazil, and how he contrived to get himself upon the list of imports of the United States of America. I even know how Manoe! Machado then became an export of the said United States of America. And why it's quite unlikely that he will ever be re-imported."

Dr. MacAdoo's smile evaporated. "No. He'll stop in England," continued John Waye presently, "forever."

"You even know the future, eh?" temporized Dr. MacAdoo. "And you don't know Santos? But you do know Chicago?"

"Do I, my dear Manoe! I don't remember saying so." "Look here, what's the game?" blustered Machado. "If it's blackmail, you're wasting your time on me, apart from the fact that I am a Scotsman, and a man of spotless blameless life. You can't get blood out of a stone."

"It would be to look for water in a dry well, as we say in Brazil, eh, Mr. Scotsman?" jeered John Waye. "Only a person as mad as I would do that, what?"

"Quite so," agreed Dr. MacAdoo, "and look here, I'll tell you something. You want to give the impression that you're mad. Well, you couldn't do it better than by talking as you are now. But if you go up to Sir Bernard and say 'I'm mad,' he'll merely turn to Dr. Charters and say, 'I don't know what this fellow's game is, but he's malingering.' See?"

"Now that's very kind of you, Manoe! But why are you so anxious that I should succeed in persuading Sir Bernard that I am mad?"

"Well, I thought that was the great idea in view of probable unpleasant consequences upon your recent activities at Witherby End." Dr. MacAdoo, with an eloquent shrug and an outward motion of the hands, rarely employed by Scotsmen, waived the question. "I have a kind heart," he said, "and wish to be helpful."

John Waye's laugh expressed more of genuine amusement than of contempt. "Well, well, Manoe!," he said, "one good turn deserves another. I'll give you a piece of useful advice now. I advise you to buy a long spoon."

"Yes, a very long one, for you're certainly supping with the devil—and his name is Charters, at the moment. And you'll shortly want a friend, indeed, Manoe!"

"A friend?" "Yes, for you'll be in the very gravest need."

"Now that's very kind of you, Waye. But why are you so very anxious on my account?"

"To quote yourself, I have a kind heart, and wish to be helpful," John Waye assured him.

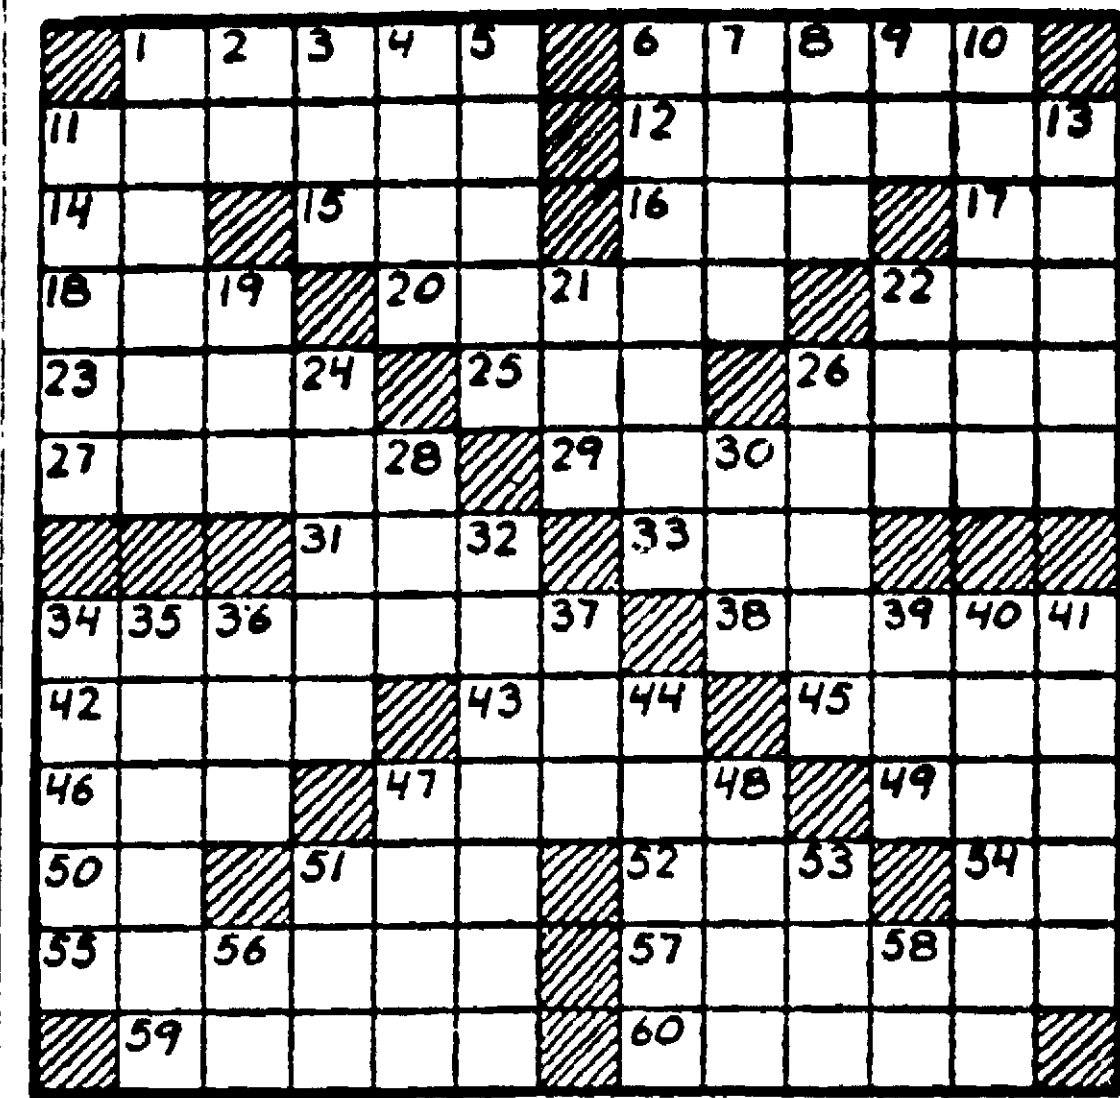

"Now you think over what I have said," he added, "and grasp the fact that Charters is double-crossing you. Has he told you what I really went to Witherby End for? What I went there to get? Has he told you about Chink Dorson, Spider Schlitz, and himself, and the colossal fortune? Has he told you who 'Mr. James' is? Has he let you in on everything? What does he pay you? Why, man, you ought to be making thousands. And pretty soon, too. The game's nearly up, and another thing. Do you know what he's going to make out of the Marjorie Landreth business? What share is he giving you for that job, by the way?"

"Sat," hissed Dr. MacAdoo, springing to his feet. "Hush! What do you mean by 'What's he going to make out of the Marjorie Landreth business'?"

"Just what I say. And I asked what he is giving you for doing it? And, I might add—what are you giving her?"

"Who are you?" he whispered. "Would you turn king's evidence, if I were?" asked John Waye. Dr. MacAdoo's face was a study in its mingled and changing expressions of bewilderment, shrewdness, fear, hope, and, finally, relief. "No. You aren't a cop. You killed Spider Schlitz," he said, "and got in here and announced it before it was discovered. What do you mean about Marjorie Landreth? Look here, let's put our cards on the table. You tell me who you are, and all you know, and what you're after. And I'll come across."

"Heart of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Sidestepe the issue of Accepting Fancy Names for the Baby.

JUNIOR's demand that I give my approval to one of the sets of impossible names he and Rodrick had chosen for the baby nonplused me for the moment. Then I barely took the easiest way out.

"All four are so pretty that I couldn't choose anyone among them," I said. "But Junior, don't you think it would be better to wait until your father comes home and let him decide."

"Aw! Mums you know he'll only say what you do, he protested, and as Rodrick valiantly supported him with an emphatic 'that's so,' I smiled to myself at the success of my plan and tickled to keep our boy convinced of our absolute accord in matters of discipline. What ever our other differences, neither of us ever signifies by word or look any dissent from a ruling made by the other. If there is any possible doubt concerning the granting of a request made by him or mine his cousin's coming, by Rodrick's, the inevitable reply of either of us is: 'I'll tell you later,' and then when we are by ourselves we thrash out the pros and cons of the matter and make our joint decision, to be relayed to the boys.

"But I want you to tell him about it, anyway," I said with finality. Then with a lurking consciousness that I was being unfair to my hapless husband, I attached a possible anchor to the unseaworthy boat. "I was sending him."

"But don't you think, boys," I said with the pretty deference which I had learned from those dear names, "Rudy Pearl" and "Opal Violet" are so lovely for the things they mean, that it's almost like stealing to take them for anything else? Pearls, rubies, opals—they're all ready the names of very beautiful gems, and 'violet' you've picked violet's so often I should think you'd want to leave the flowers their names for themselves. Think it over, anyway. Let's look at you! Come! Morning imperative!"

The Demerita File Up
They straightened themselves, grinning so ruefully that I knew they had forgotten something in the morning toilet.

"Where's Aunt Katherine?" Junior asked anxiously. "She has a headache and is lying down in my room," I improvised hastily, saving my conscience with the grim little thought that if my troubled kinwoman did not yet possess a headache she would acquire one soon, if her agitation over the letter she had received were any criterion.

I locked them over critically and then solemnly pronounced the verdict. "Gee!" they exclaimed with ap

"Junior suggests that we could turn his around if we wish and call the baby 'Pearl Ruby.' I said demurely, and she bent double with a spasm of giggling. "You've made my day complete," she said when she could speak. "I must run and tell Mary. I think Junior has the right idea, myself. That child must have a name. I've thought of Melitabel Edna, but Junior's takes the wedding cake mit frosting."

"She sped back to her room as the boys came back with faces and necks which would pass the most rigid of inspections. "What did Marion think of our names?" Junior asked, when I had approved their appearance. "She seemed to like them very much," I told them. "Don't forget to tell Aunt Lillian about them, but remember not to be disappointed if the grown-ups finally decide on something different. "We don't care even if they do," Junior announced importantly. "We have a scheme."

"YEARS CAN MAKE ANY GIRL MORE ALLURING!"

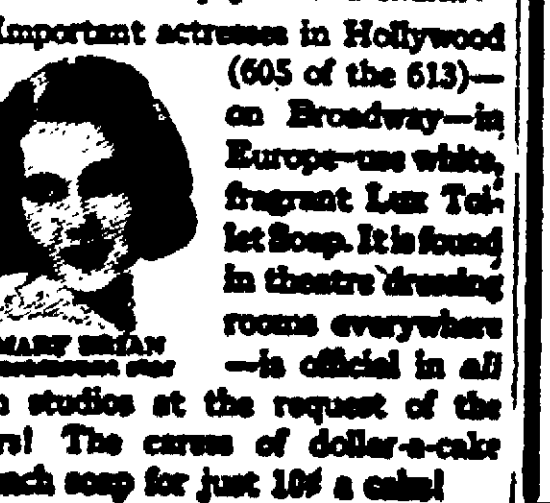

says William Powell

"No one measures Youth by birthdays any more!" says William Powell. "Women know so marvelously how to KEEP their fresh young charm that it is so irresistible. "Feminine stars of the screen and stage, especially, seem to know the secret!"

Indeed they do, for they seem always young, charming, magnetic—you can't believe they ever have birthdays.

"We guard complexion beauty above all else," the actresses tell you. "We must keep youthful charm!"

Important actresses in Hollywood (605 of the 613)—on Broadway—in Europe—use white, fragrant Lux Toilet Soap. It is found in theatre dressing rooms everywhere—official in all film studios at the request of the stars! The career of dollar-a-minute French soap for just 10¢ a cake!

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, and when me and Jubilee woke up we got to thinking about Feeble and about all of us getting in a row on the cukes of ice out in the poorhouse ten house, to see which would be the best man, just as if anything Feeble could say would make anyone the best man, and I guess Feeble was right about boys not being so very brave. I haven't thawed out yet. I shiver every time I think about it. I don't blame Jubilee for looking at me the way he done when I was getting ready to let him down by the rope in his teeth. If I was a dog and had a master that would act on a cake of ice because he didn't know any better I would look at him worse than that.

When I had milked the dummed brutes and fed my face and went to school and got out we all went to Frenchy's house and he had made a scoop net by boring a hole through one side of a sieve and sticking a broomstick through and nailing the end against the other side, and we all took it, and a pall out to the creek in the pasture, and we were going to catch a lot of minnies to use for bait, or to sell to my grandfather for bait, and we eeny-meeny-miny-moed each other out to see which would get to use it first and the Lost Bag of Tripe, the dirty crook, got to use it first, and he straddled himself out on the bank with the scoop in the air, and pretty soon when some minnies came along he made a plunge with it as hard and as quick as he could, and when it hit the water the sieve came loose from the stick, and he had braced himself so hard that when the water didn't hold the sieve back he turned half way around and hollered and fell in all over, and Frenchy grabbed the broom handle out of his hand when he was climbing up the bank and jammed him with it where his pants were tight and wet, and he went up the bank like a bird that was trying to fly. He jumped so high that I bet if he had had wings like an airplane he could have gone up in the air and sailed around. The girls were there, so when we had made a fire he couldn't take off his clothes to dry them, and when a fellow dries by a fire with his clothes on it makes him feel like a boiled potato. But we didn't care how the Lost Bag of Tripe felt. We made such a big fire and got him so hot he steamed.

We went over to the new house and it is finished now but the people haven't moved in. We found a long and round pole as big around as my acting pole, and took it and hid it under my house. Maybe we can think of something to do with it. It ought to be good for something. We would have acted if we could have it. If anyone had been there, but no one would want a pole like that.
